Judicial Ticket.

For Chief Justice of the Supreme Court—ORSAMUS COLE.

For Associate Justice of the Supreme Court—JOHN R. CASSIDAY.

President Garfield is taking well in Europe.

It is better to have the United States senatorship than have the sorehead.

Ex-Governor Washburn has been compelled to visit Hot Springs, Arkansas, for his health.

Judge Davis has got upon the fence again. He shows off upon the fence better than anywhere else.

President Garfield will not have a lone-some time of it at the White House. His callers will average nearly a hundred a day—all wanting an office.

In 1850 there were 54 insane people in the State; in 1859 there were 1,717. In 1850 there was one insane to every 5,654 inhabitants; in 1880 there was one to every 706.

Mr. Tilden is out of politics, but he manages to remain in court. He is called upon to answer for a good many attempts to get unlawful advantage of either the government or his friends.

John T. Rich, of Michigan, who has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans, to fill the vacancy caused by the election of Conger to the Senate, is a successful farmer, and a man of excellent ability.

It will regretted by a great many voters in Wisconsin that the prohibition amendment did not pass the Assembly. While many do not believe that prohibition is the best way to lessen intemperance, they would like to see the question submitted to the people.

The slate for State officers which was telegraphed from Madison to the Chicago Times, and which appeared in the Gazette yesterday, as alleged to have been made by some of the Cameron men, is said to have been sent to Chicago without the knowledge or consent of the persons named on the ticket. During the contest for Senator the question as to who should occupy a place on the next State ticket was not mentioned or thought of.

A dispatch has gone from Madison to the Milwaukee Sentinel which says the election of Senator Cameron has left "raw spots" in that city, which will not be healed for some time to come. The dispatch goes on to say that a number of the "mildest-mannered men in the capitol, including Senators Crosby, Wiley and McKeeby, are emphatic in their denunciation of the alleged traitors to the independent cause, and propose to undertake an investigation into the charges made of corruption and bribery. A number of very serious rumors are afloat. One that is a member of the Assembly has suddenly been able to discharge a $1500 mortgage on his household. Another is said to have been promised a senatorial nomination in one of the southwestern districts. It is said the investigation will not be conducted for the purpose of giving Senator Cameron any trouble, but to ascertain the truth or falsity of the reports. The independents, or rather those opposed to Senator Cameron, had plans arranged to defeat him, and having correctly measured their strength, as they thought, counted on a complete victory. When the contest came, there were so many candidates among the independents, and so much wrangling going on that they could not hope for success. When they attempted to unite on Mr. Bowman, they could not drive their entire force into the bargain, and the scheme failed, and Cameron was elected. Of course there is deep regret by the anti-Cameron men that their scheme did not work, and they attribute this failure to the treachery on the part of two or three who promised to be gallant captains in the fight against Cameron. The people are not in a condition of mind to believe that either Angus Cameron or any of his friends would resort to any scheme of any doubtful character whatever, to secure the senatorship; and we are as free to admit that the same is true of Mr. Keyes and his friends. But when the minority have been beaten, it comes with ill-grace for them to cry fraud.

THE MANAGEMENT OF THE HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE.

Senator Hamilton Richardson, of this city, chairman of the committee on Charitable and Penal institutions, has introduced a bill "to provide for the better government of the hospitals for the insane." The committee has given this question considerable study, and has finally decided to recommend a system of management which is briefly described as follows: The Governor is authorized to appoint a board of five trustees, no two of whom shall be a resident of the same county, and their terms of service shall be for five years. It is provided that this board shall annually appoint for each hospital a suitable physician for superintendent, one assistant physician, a matron, a secretary, a treasurer, and shall employ such other subordinate persons as shall be deemed necessary. A treasurer for each of the hospitals is to be appointed, who shall receive no compensation, but shall give a penal bond for the faithful discharge of his duties.

Under the proposed system of management, the superintendents are to have nothing to do with the business or financial affairs of the hospitals. Their duties will be to attend to the medical departments of the institutions, the secretary of each hospital being the financial and purchasing agent of the concerns. The superintendents shall receive a salary not to exceed $2,000 a year, and the matron's is placed at $800. The secretaries shall receive a salary of $2,000 each if boarded at the hospital, and if boarded elsewhere at their own expense, the salaries should be $2,500 each. The board of trustees are required to meet at the capitol on the 1st day of April next, and thereafter meet monthly, when practicable, at such convenient locality as they shall determine upon. They are to have the immediate charge of all property of said hospitals, and the immediate custody of all books and papers. During each month of the year the board of trustees is to prepare an estimate of expenditures necessary for the month which is to be filed with the secretary, and no member of the board or officer of the hospital is to incur any liability for the hospital without such estimates have been first made. Every account shall be audited by the board and then an appropriation shall be made therefor. The compensation of the trustees is fixed at five dollars per day, each, for the time each is necessarily absent from his home in attending the meetings of the board, and his necessary traveling expenses, at a rate not exceeding five cents per mile each way.

These are the main features of the bill proposed by the committee on Charitable and Penal institutions for the government of the State hospitals. Whatever objections there may be to this proposed plan for the government of the hospitals for the insane, it is much more practical and economical than the system provided for by the bill of Senator Sutherland's. The new bill has been very carefully drawn and probably it will become a law.

THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY CONFERENCE.

The Gazette announced several days ago that William M. Everts, of New York, ex-Secretary of State, ex-Senator Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio, and ex-Senator Timothy O. Howe, of Wisconsin, were appointed commissioners on the part of the United States by President Garfield, to attend the international monetary conference which will be held in Paris this year. This conference is one of vast concern to both America and Europe, and appreciating the importance of the silver question, the Congress of the United States when it passed the silver bill in February, 1878, provided that the President should invite the governments of the countries composing the Latin Union (France, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, and Greece) and such other European nations as he might deem advisable, to join the United States in a conference to adopt a common ratio between gold and silver, for the purpose of establishing internationally the use of bi-metallic money, and to secure a fixity of relative value between those metals. The President was authorized to appoint three commissioners to this conference on the part of the United States.

When this conference assembled in Paris, in August, 1878, all the European powers were represented except Germany and Spain. The Madison Democrat of a recent date, says that France did not take part in the conference. This is a mistake. France was represented in the conference of 1878 by Messieurs Leon Say, S. Jagerschmidt, and M. Ruan, and M. Leon Say, Minister of the finances in France, presided over the conference. The drift of discussion in the conference showed that a double standard was needed in Europe, but the discussion led to no practical results at that time.

It is to be hoped that the conference of 1881 with a full representation from all the European powers, will settle some of the vexed questions connected with the coinage of silver, and the relative value between the two metals. It is not unlikely that some important steps will be taken to secure a double standard. In 1878, Germany refused to take part in the conference. The government adopted the gold standard and the experiment has not been a profitable one to that country, and now Germany is not only anxious to send representatives to the conference, but is asking for the adoption of the double standard. It will be a labor of considerable importance to settle the relative value between gold and silver in all the countries represented in the conference. At the present time the relative value between gold and silver in the nations forming the Latin Union, is 15½ to 1, while in the United States the relative value is 16 to 1. It has been suggested that if any conclusion is reached regarding the relative value, "silver will be over-valued, as an agreement among so many countries to adopt it as a legal tender currency will appreciate its value somewhat; that 15½ to 1 over-values silver more than it should be, and would be likely to cause more or less disturbance in monetary affairs should it be adopted; while to adopt the standard of the United States of 16 to 1, would cause all the other governments to receive all their silver, which would prove a heavy loss." It will be seen from these facts that the work of the international monetary conference has almost a world-wide importance.

Candidates for the Supreme Court.

The evening Wisconsin, of Friday, the 11th, contains the following editorial on the judgeship, which is complimentary to Judges Cole and Cassiday:

After the death of Chief Justice Ryan, of the State Supreme Court, Governor Smith appointed Associate Justice Cole to be chief justice, and J. B. Cassiday, of Janesville, to be associate justice in place of Justice Cole, promoted. But, as the governor can only appoint for the time being, elections will have to be held in April for the permanent filling of these two positions. Judge Cole has been a member of the court for twenty-five years, and the propriety of his appointment to the chief justiceship was almost universally recognized. Those who knew Mr. Cassiday best were pleased with his appointment, and during the short time that he has been upon the bench he has created a most favorable impression upon all who have had business in the court or occasion to note his opinions, which are declared to be models of clearness and legal statement. The bar of Janesville, without regard to party, signed calls upon both Chief Justice Cole and Associate Justice Cassiday to become independent candidates for the positions which they now hold. These calls were circulated among the members of the bar throughout the State, and signed by a very large majority thereof, irrespective of party—in Milwaukee for instance, the calls are signed by such prominent Democratic lawyers as Wm. P. Lynde, H. L. Palmer, James G. Jenkins, A. R. R. Butler, F. W. Cotzhausen, and D. H. Johnson. Indeed, the Democratic signers appear to be quite as numerous as the Republicans. This is honorable alike to the judges and the signers, and will doubtless preclude a political contest for the positions named.

Both Judge Cassiday and Judge Cole have signified their compliance with the request made, and are therefore in the field as candidates. Both are men of unsullied character, learned in the law and conscientious in the discharge of the responsible duties to which have been assigned. The people can do no better than to sanction, by their votes, the action of the Governor in his appointment of these gentlemen to the positions for which they are now candidates.

The Power of the Press.

Cardinal Manning, speaking of the peculiar power of the press, says: "A newspaper is like a knock at the door by day. It is so short that even the idle will read it, and so plain that even the simple can understand. It speaks to a thousand at once. Mere curiosity will make men read, and curiosity will make them talk what they have read in their newspapers. It thinks for them, and they reproduce it in their talk at breakfast dinner and supper. It becomes a voice and spreads wide. There is no more prompt, direct and certain way of speaking to men in this nineteenth century than by newspapers. Books move slowly in a narrow circle, voices are heard only in a church or in a lecture-room, but a newspaper speaks everywhere, whithersoever it floats by sea or dries by post. 'The thing becomes a trumpet.' It is the nearest approach to the living voice which is universal. After the voice of the Church comes the voice, or rather the voices, of the newspaper press."

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

The following statement of William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1876, I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WM. HALL'S BALM FOR THE LUNGS. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when, to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years. 'I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with Disordered Lungs will be induced to take DR. WM. HALL'S BALM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles, and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared, and I shall soon be able to go to work.' Sold by druggists. 1

Married in Fun.

A few evenings since a party of young people at Brock Creek, Michigan, thought to celebrate the occasion by a mock marriage. Miss Lillie Symonds, of Madison, Wis., and Mr. Phil. Starkey, of Montreal, Ont., submitted themselves to play the part of bride and groom. The marriage was carried out in every detail, the ceremony being read by Frank Preston, from a justice's guide, the young couple making appropriate responses and even a marriage certificate being made out and signed in legal form. This was considered a very funny affair by all present, but next it began to look serious for Mr. Starkey and Miss Symonds, who had no intention of becoming man and wife, but were informed that under the laws of Michigan they were as surely wedded as if the ceremony had been performed by a minister or justice.

They consulted lawyers and were informed that the only remedy would be to begin proceedings for divorce. Young Starkey becoming thoroughly alarmed, left for his home in Canada, and Miss Symonds's parents sent for her to return to Madison. The affair is causing much gossip. It appears the young lady was engaged soon to be married to another young man. To do so legally it will be necessary to have the mock marriage annulled.

Premature Loss of the Hair

nowadays may be entirely prevented by the use of BURNETT'S COCAINE. It has been used in thousands of cases where the hair was coming out in handfuls, and has never failed to arrest its decay; it promotes a healthy and vigorous growth, and it is at the same time unexcelled as a soft and glossy dressing for the hair. BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS are the best, strongest and most healthful. Sold everywhere.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

MR. THOMAS HUGHES is already lecturing in London on his recent visit to America.

LORD BEACONSFIELD, it is now stated, wrote "Endymion" twenty-two years ago, and it has been published with no material alteration.

SIDNEY SMITH once thus cleverly described Mrs. Grote and her husband: "I do like them both so much, for he is so ladylike and she is such a perfect gentleman."

The late Prof. Watson, was the discoverer of no less than nineteen planets and asteroids, and of two comets. He maintained for years, up to the time of his death, the existence of a planet beyond Neptune, and spent some years in fixing its location by calculations.

The first volume of the history of the war which is being gotten up under the auspices of the War Department has been published. It deals with the events preceding the firing on Fort Sumter, which ended in secession. No such gigantic historical undertaking was ever before begun.

GAMBETTA, as he rises to speak in the tribune, is described as a clumsy, dull-visaged man, dressed in ill-fitting and shabby clothes. But after a few moments' speaking he seems another being, his face lights up, his gestures are telling, and his voice has the resonant tones of a man of power.

NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE's shyness was almost inconceivable. He had a lofty tower built on to his house, and located his study in its highest room. Thus all visitors were obliged to climb a long, steep flight of stairs, without banisters, and at last come to a trap door leading upwards and upon which Mr. Hawthorne was sitting. Moreover, the doors below were diligently guarded, and few were able to elude the attendants to secure entrance at all.

A LETTER from Mr. Longfellow to Father Ryan, the Southern poet, on the occasion of a reading by the latter of some of his own poems at the Baltimore Academy of Music, contained the following pleasant paragraph: "When you call yourself 'the last and least of those who rhyme,' you remind me of the graceful lines of Catullus to Cicero: 'Receive the warm thanks of Catullus, the least of all poets; as much the least of all poets as you are the greatest of all advocates.' 'Last and least' can no more be applied to you than 'pessimus' to Catullus."

GEORGE ELIOT's writings have been very profitable. For "Scenes in Clerical Life" she received only $1,500. But for "Adam Bede" she got about ten times as much, and for "The Mill on the Floss" still less. "Romans" strangely enough, is said to have brought her only $10,000. From "Silas Marner" she received $1,500, and from "Felix Holt," usually thought inferior, six times as much. For the "Spanish Gypsy" she got $20,000, which is rather more than her publishers got back from the public. Her entire earnings have been estimated at $250,000.

HUMOROUS.

THERE was a brave soldier, a colonel, who swore in a way most infamous, but he never once thought, As a Christian man ought, He imperturbed his own life eternal.

He was a fine looking man, and he proudly strutted down the sidewalks with the air of proprietorship in every movement. "Beg your pardon," said a stranger as he stepped up to him, hat in hand, in utmost humility. "Do I have your permission to remain in town over night?"—New Haven Register.

"You did wrong to shoot that man's dog. You might have pushed him off with the butt of your gun," said the Galveston Recorder to a man who was charged with shooting a neighbor's dog. "I would have done that," replied the prisoner, "if the dog had come at me tail first, but he came at me with his biting end."—Galveston News.

A WOMAN always knows when she is pretty. Isn't it strange that she never knows when she is the other thing? We can all put up with a good deal of simpering nonsense from a pretty girl, but a homely damsel must deport herself with straight-laced decorum or she makes herself ridiculous. Perhaps it is unfair, but the world will have it so and it stands, an inexorable law.—Philadelphia Press.

Knew When to Quit.

"I THINK I may be excused for a little show of pride in saying that I knew when to quit Wall street," he observed as an elevated train carried them over that great thoroughfare.

"So you used to speculate, eh?"

"Yes; I was on the street for seven years."

"Made your pile, I suppose?"

"Yes; I made and lost money the same as the rest. At one time I could draw my check for $93,000, and that isn't so bad for a man who went into Wall street with only $40 in his pocket."

"And you knew when to quit?"

"Yes, sir."

"That was when—when—?"

"That was when I had enough left to pay my fare to Elmira and hire a boy to carry my satchel up to my father-in-law's house!" was the quiet reply.—Wall Street (N. Y.) News.
